The Columbia Rifle Association to Shoot With the Battimore Marksmen. The Columbia Rifle association met at Ben-ning's range yesterday afternoon for practice at the long ranges, and good work was done, but not, however, constituting a record. A meeting of the executive committee was held after the shooting was over to consider the challenge recently received from the Mary-land Rifle club of Baltimore to shoot a friendly match on the last Saturday of the present mouth. It was unanimously decided to accept mouth. It was unanimously decided to accept the challengs and to put a team of six men in practice for the 200-yards stage, with one or two as reserves. The challenge is for two distinct matches, one of five or six men on a side to shoot ten shots each of hand, and the other of four men on a side to shoot thirty shots each at 600 yards. It was agreed to accept the latter also. The Columbia club has some strong material to select from at each of these distances, and are in hope that their best men can be chosen, and will make a gailant fight for the victory.

THE CORCORAN SQUARE

A Sattrical Petition Sent to the District Commissioners. Some gentlemen evidently not in sympathy with the citizens who oppose the erection of a school building on the Corcoran Market square (square 446), and who appreciate the square (square 446), and who appreciate the force of satire, have united in a petition to the commissioners stating that they have associated themselves together as a company, having in view the construction of a hotel, ostenably for the benefit of the public and indirectly for the benefit of themselves, and to this end make application to loose for a term of ninety-nine years the whole or a portion of square No. 446. The petitioners then solemnly give ten reasons why a hotel and not a school-houre should be creeted on this square.

Among these reasons it is stated that a hotel and achool-house should never be in close proximity; that the District can better afford to purchase ground for a school-house than the to purchase ground for a school-house that the patitioners can to build; that unless they are extended aid in the manuer indicated they will be compelled to purchase land at their own expense, and thus be brought into competition with similar enterprises conducted by private citizens at their own cost, and that school-houses can be built anywhere without reference to convenience, while hotels should always be creefed where the public can conalways be creeted where the public can con veniently reach them. The petition contains the following notice:

"If this petition is not granted we shall comploy eminent counsel, who will resert to all methods known to the law to prevent the construction of said school-house, thereby causing great injury and detriment to the edu-cational interests of our youth."

The paper is signed by Hugh J. Boniface (president), John T. Ositer, Philemon Q. Boots, Uriah Steward and Patsy Cook.
